

sundry existing statutes prohibiting interference by the army with elections, it was decided to recommend to the Legislature that it shall make the usual appropriations for the support of the army throughout the next fiscal year, but containing a proviso that no portion of the money thereto appropriated shall be used for the pay, transportation, equipment, or subsistence of troops used for police purposes to keep the peace at the polls.

It was further decided to recommend to the passage of the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Committees that the bill be passed as last year's bill, and for the same amounts, except they shall be more minutely specified, and except also, that shall not make any provision for the pay of Supervisors or Deputy Marshals.

The new bill will, however, contain a clause

NO OFFICER SHALL BE APPOINTED OR ORGANIZED FOR ANY OBJECT FOR WHICH A SPECIFIC APPROPRIATION SHALL NOT HAVE BEEN MADE.

This clause is based on the statue-book, with the exception of the words "or obligation incurred," and there is also an existing law which prohibits the diversion of any appropriation to a purpose different from that for which it has been specifically made.

The Committee next agreed to recommend the passage of a separate measure embodying the above provisions, appropriate a sum which will provide for amendment of the law concerning the method of drawing, juries, and for the total abolition of the jurors' test-owl. In view of the fact that the President in his veto message did not comment on these provisions, it is believed he has no objection.

WILL PROMPTLY APPROVE THEM

when presented to him by an independent bill.

It was also argued to-day in behalf of the programme above outlined that the President cannot justly withhold his signature from the bill, as it only makes a provision to make provision for particular objects, and that in the anticipated event of his approving the present bill, the Democrats will have accomplished for the country what they would have accomplished for an indefinite period of time by the former bills, and what they may continue to accomplish by similar legislation.

In response to an objection made by a few of those who participated in the meeting to-day to the adoption of this policy, it was on the part of the Democracy, its advocates maintaining that it did not affect the casualties and that, John Keeley, with father, son and son-in-law, Mrs. W. J. Williams killed, Mr. Brickerman and five children killed, Jacob Sabens and wife fatally injured, E. Sheldon, wife, and sister dangerously hurt and not expected to live, Mrs. C. Bates and two children badly hurt, one has since died, And Mrs. Noah, Mrs. George Martin, and several others more or less seriously wounded.

THE JOINT MEETING was adjourned until Monday next, by which time the recommendations of the committee will have been formulated by a joint committee. Reps. Foster, Foster, Vance, and Bailey, and Representatives Springer, Ewing, and Reagan, and submitted for its approval preparatory to presentation to the joint caucus of the Democratic members of both Houses, which will probably be held Monday.

PRESIDENT HAYES.
SOME SECOND-TERM TALE.
Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—A political and a near friend both of the President and Secretary Sherman, while explaining that the President did nothing to insure the nomination of Foster, was asked if he did not believe Hayes would accept a renomination. He replied

"Nobody knows; I doubt if any man in politics would have the grace to refuse, but I say with great confidence that he will not renominate or work for it. It will not disturb his mind nor influence his political action in the least. He was perfectly sincere in what he wrote disclaiming any intention to look for a second term, and you will see that he will adhere to this strictly, in the sense that he will absolutely abstain from using patronage or influence of his office to secure a renomination. But if he is clearly blamed in that respect, and resists that temptation, and if after all the Convention should renominate him, he could, in my judgment, not only accept without any violation of a promise, but he would be a stronger candidate than any other under the circumstances.

What some of us see, and with his usual frank fortune, his conduct of the Administration bears to tell not only with the country but with the party. It begins to be seen that there are no great scandals in his Administration.

It is clean. The public service has not been as honestly or as economically conducted for many years. His policy has given the country quiet and rest, and the Democrats have done an invaluable service in giving him an opportunity to show the stuff that is in him, and his opinions on this class of subjects. It is only a year before the Convention will meet, and you may see that to that time he will be a strong favorite with the country and party. So far he has undoubtedly strengthened the party with the country, and much stronger things have happened than his renomination next year would be. But he will not be a strong candidate under the circumstances of patronage, just as he did not turn a finger to secure Foster's nomination, which is really Sherman's gain, and strengthens the astute Secy. in all his weak places."

The following was issued this afternoon by the Treasury Department:

The last of the $10 refunding certificates have been delivered by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to the Treasury, and will be distributed to the various post offices throughout the country and become deposited to-day.

Two thousand and four hundred and twenty-four certificates were issued to-day, and the amount of $100,000,000.

Mr. Colgate attacked Roosevelt severely for taking advantage of the situation to defeat this measure.

Mr. Colgate stated that he heard nothing for the circumstances of the case, but he stood here on his constitutional rights, and he was determined to allow nothing to go through this House where the action of a quorum was required.

After some pretty hot work, the resolution was on the table.

The clerk of the Committee on Unruled and Unruled Bills was allowed ten days to finish his report.

A resolution was presented allowing H. C. Lowell, a committee clerk, $100, which created considerable disturbance. The Democracy opposed the action of the House, and the Tractionists supported it.

Mr. Colgate was unable to get his resolution adopted, and he was compelled to withdraw it.

Mr. Colgate informed the House that the Special Committee appointed to wait upon him that he had no further communications to make to the House.

The House then took a recess until 6 o'clock P.M.

LOTTERY-DRAWING.

A TERRIFIC WIND.

St. Louis, Mo., May 31.—A gale from the Atchison, Kas., side: A terrible storm of wind and rain passed over Northern Kansas and Southern Nebraska last evening. It extended through nearly the whole northern portion of this State, but was most violent between Blue Rapids and Centennial stations, on the Central Branch Railroad, about thirty miles apart. The storm moved in a direction a little north of east, and passed into Nebraska through Richardson County. The town of Irving, ninety miles west of this place, was nearly destroyed. At that point the storm took on the character of a cyclone, and leveled everything in its path. About forty buildings were destroyed.

POLICE BRUTALITY.

Col. Van Arman's Opinion as to the Illegality of the Shooting.

Deputy-Supt. Dixie also has His Doubts as to Whether It Was Justifiable.

The unjustifiable shooting of the colored man Tom Johnson, alias Luce Stone, by Police-Supt. Crook, Thursday afternoon, is being investigated by Capt. Seavey, but, as Johnson has no friends in particular, it is not likely that anything will be done to the officer. He may be simply reprimanded, and told to be more careful in the future. Had Johnson a relative who would see to it that the attention of the Grand Jury was brought to the matter, Crook might be prosecuted and sent to join Policeman Jones, who was put in jail for clubbing Purcell Munson's son so that he died from the effects.

The patrolmen of the city are entirely too reckless with their revolvers and clubs, and it is about a stop when put to their shooting and brutalizing. They defy the law, and "act on their own responsibility, but their superiors would act with them otherwise since it is useless to make complaint; they always manage to go free, unless the victim or his friends go over on the North Side for justice.

It was an Honest Farmer

Was riding in a Car

Upon the Northwestern Illinois

And Kalamazoo R. R.

It was a Monte-Player;

Three Cards did throw and mix,

And get $300

He could not spot the Six.

It was the Honest Farmer,

While handling the Pack,

Observed the Six was plainly marked

With a cross upon the back.

It was the Honest Farmer

Who cracked loud with Glee,

And forth did his Pocket-Book,

Saying, "Thou art Meat for me!"

It was the Monte-Player

The cards did throw and mix,

And laid before the Farmer,

And bade him spot the Six.

It was the Honest Farmer

Took one crossed on the back,

And was remarkably surprised.

To find it was the Jack.

It was the Honest Farmer

That ran and loudly sobbed

Unto the Stern Conductor,

"Hi, master, I've been robbed!"

It was the Stern Conductor

That, with a Bow of Gloom,

Made Answer to him, "Robbed? And where?

And how, why, and by whom?"

It was the Honest Farmer

Said, "Wretched, and would't thou play

Monte on the Northwestern Illinois

And Kalamazoo Railway?"

It was the Stern Conductor

That, with a bitter Sigh,

Did summon a Brakeman, stop the Train,

And put the Gambler off.

It was the Honest Farmer

Rejoiced exceedingly

The Monte-Player on the Track

Left thus behind to see.

It was the Honest Farmer

When, raising like the Wind,

The Day-Express had left that spot

Twenty-seven miles behind.

It was the Honest Farmer

Got up and tore his Hair,

Reflecting that his Money had

Been left with that Monte-Player!

It was the Stern Conductor

When back to Town he went,

Got from the Monte-Player

His usual 10 cent.
